4. France

There are no Yugoslav camps in France. The 7,500 emigrés either do farm work in the villages or live in the cities on private means. The French Government has been extremely co-operative in helping them to find work and in giving assistance to the destitute.

5. Belgium

There are 5,000 Yugoslavs in Belgium.

6. Switzerland

There are 900 soldiers (including 180 officers) and about 400 civilians in Switzerland. Those who are unemployed are cared for by the Swiss government, receiving food, lodging, and medical care.

7. Greece

There are 20,000 Yugoslav exiles in Greece as of November 1946 (about 5,000 more than were reported last July). Whereas their situation used to be deplorable, it has recently improved, especially since many of the refugees have received employment.

8. The Middle East and Africa

According to July reports, there are 6,480 Yugoslav exiles in these areas. Most of them are with the British forces doing para-military service.
